Message From THE DESK OF PRESIDENT

I am elated to know that Lloyd Business School is coming out with the Seventh Edition of Lloyd Chronicle. The journal promises to be a reflection of rapidly developing business administration and management dynamics in emerging market situations. Lloyd Chronicle aims to build on the fundamental concepts of business administration with the objective of extending and applying existing theories and practices to a multidisciplinary framework, in an innovative manner. It will provide a platform for students, academicians and industry experts to interact, exchange their ideas and build collaborations in order to push the boundaries of business knowledge. The market is dynamic and is in constant need for skilled professionals who are fully equipped to consistently adapt to changes and face emerging challenges. Perseverance, critical thinking, ability to take fast and effective decisions, and a talent to quickly solve problems are also very much required in the modern, globalized service sector. Understanding this need, Lloyd Chronicle focuses on key business administration trends in a comparative, global context, with a pluralistic methodology complemented by multidisciplinary conceptualization from a cross cultural perspective. I hope this journal will succeed in reaching out to aspiring business professionals, students and researchers, and guide them in their journey towards excellence. I wish all the success to this endeavor of Lloyd Business School!

Dr. Vandana Arora Sethi

Message From THE DESK OF GROUP DIRECTOR

It gives me immense pleasure in writing a note for our Seventh issue of the Management Magazine of Lloyd Business School – Lloyd Chronicle. In the last issues we have had many exciting changes transpiring in our Business School, from impressive faculty hires, to new programs in Data Science and Analytics, to improving the experiences of our students. This new group of faculty brings outstanding talents and remarkable research activity that will complement the exceptional work done by our current faculty members. Several of our faculty members are involved in teaching endeavors that have the potential for nationwide impact. Our industry focused education has been getting great attention as the new trend in higher education, in Business Analytics, Supply Chain Management & Human Resources. At the same time, we continue to be deeply committed to attracting the highest caliber students to our school and offering wonderful educational experiences. This year we shall be doing many activities and conclaves with industry academia dignitaries. I'm very excited about this program, which will provide outstanding educational opportunities to a diverse group of students. Blessings!!!

Dr. Satish Kumar Matta

Message From THE DESK OF DIRECTOR

At Lloyd Business School, we believe that management education is not merely about acquiring a degree, but about developing the mindset, skills, and values required to lead in a dynamic global business environment. Our PGDM program is designed to nurture future-ready professionals who can think critically, act ethically, and adapt confidently to change.

In today's fast-evolving world, organizations seek leaders who combine strong conceptual knowledge with practical exposure. At Lloyd Business School, we emphasize an industry-integrated curriculum, experiential learning, and continuous interaction with corporate leaders. Through case studies, live projects, internships, simulations, and workshops, our students gain hands-on experience that bridges the gap between theory and practice. We are committed to holistic development. Along with academic excellence, we focus on communication skills, leadership qualities, teamwork, and emotional intelligence. Our dedicated faculty members bring rich academic and industry experience, ensuring that students receive mentoring, guidance, and real-world insights throughout their journey. Ethics, social responsibility, and sustainability form the foundation of our teaching philosophy. We strive to instill integrity, professionalism, and a sense of responsibility toward society in every student. Our vibrant campus culture encourages innovation, diversity of thought, and lifelong learning.

Collaborative Leadership Program at Jim Corbett National Park

The PGDM Batch 2023–2025 participated in a four-day Collaborative Leadership Program held at Jim Corbett National Park from 7–9 April 2025 under the guidance of Dr. Ripudaman Gaur. Designed as an immersive, experiential learning initiative, the program aimed to strengthen students' leadership, managerial, interpersonal, and strategic thinking skills beyond the classroom. Through team-building exercises, leadership simulations, problem-solving challenges, adventure-based activities, and reflective group discussions, participants enhanced their decision-making, communication, adaptability, emotional intelligence, and collaborative abilities. The natural setting encouraged self-awareness, environmental responsibility, and sustainability-oriented thinking, helping students reflect on their leadership styles, values, and strengths. Overall, the program proved to be a transformative experience, fostering resilience, confidence, ethical leadership, and a growth mindset, and preparing students to excel as socially responsible, future-ready leaders in dynamic professional environments.

Team Building Workshop for Atkins Réalis

A one-day Team Building Workshop was successfully conducted on 22nd February 2025 for the internal employees of Atkins Réalis, organized by Lloyd Business School and facilitated by Ms. Natasha Gambhir. The workshop was designed to strengthen teamwork, communication, collaboration, and interpersonal effectiveness in a professional setting.

Participants engaged in a series of dynamic group activities, interactive exercises, icebreakers, role-based tasks, and collaborative problem-solving challenges, aimed at enhancing trust, coordination, and collective decision-making. The program encouraged employees to improve communication, understand team dynamics, manage conflicts constructively, and work more efficiently toward shared goals.

The workshop led to improved team cohesion, stronger interpersonal relationships, and enhanced workplace communication among participants. Employees appreciated the practical, engaging, and energetic facilitation style of the trainer, noting the relevance of the activities to real-world work scenarios. Overall, the program positively impacted employee engagement and contributed to building a more collaborative, motivated, and supportive work culture at Atkins Réalis.

Who we are

We are a world-class engineering services and nuclear organization. We connect people, data and technology to transform the world's infrastructure and energy systems.

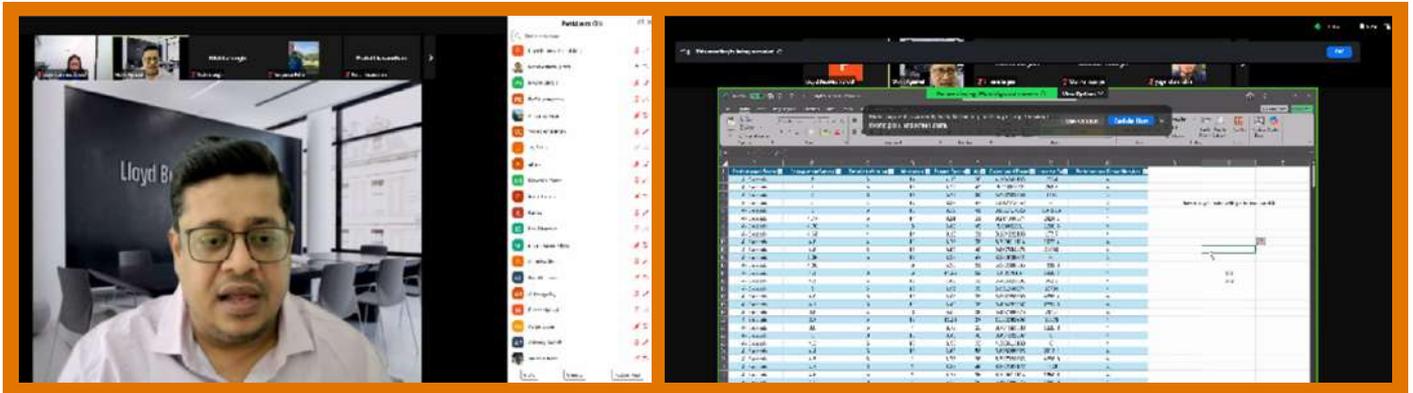

Together, with our industry partners and clients, and our global team of consultants, designers, engineers and project managers, we can change the world.

Advanced Excel Training Series

An Advanced Excel Training Series was successfully conducted online from 15th February to 21st March 2025, engaging 25 participants, including industry professionals, faculty members, and students. The program was facilitated by Prof. Mohit Agrawal and Dr. Saumendra Mohanty, with the objective of strengthening participants' advanced Excel capabilities for data analysis, reporting, visualization, and automation.

The training covered a wide range of advanced topics such as complex formulas, pivot tables, data validation, dynamic reporting, dashboard creation, macros, and automation tools, supported by real-world case studies and hands-on practical exercises. Participants actively engaged in live demonstrations, guided practice sessions, interactive Q&A discussions, and problem-solving tasks, enhancing both conceptual understanding and technical proficiency.

The program significantly improved participants' accuracy, efficiency, analytical skills, and confidence in using Excel for professional and academic applications. Overall, the training proved to be a highly impactful capability-building initiative, empowering learners with practical, data-driven skills to support effective decision-making, reporting, and business intelligence in real-world scenarios.

Python – No Coding Series

Lloyd Business School successfully conducted the Python – No Coding Series from 15 February to 21 March 2025, engaging 40 participants under the expert guidance of Dr. Saumendra Mohanty. The program was specially designed for beginners and non-technical learners, aiming to introduce the power of Python in analytics, automation, and artificial intelligence without requiring prior coding knowledge.

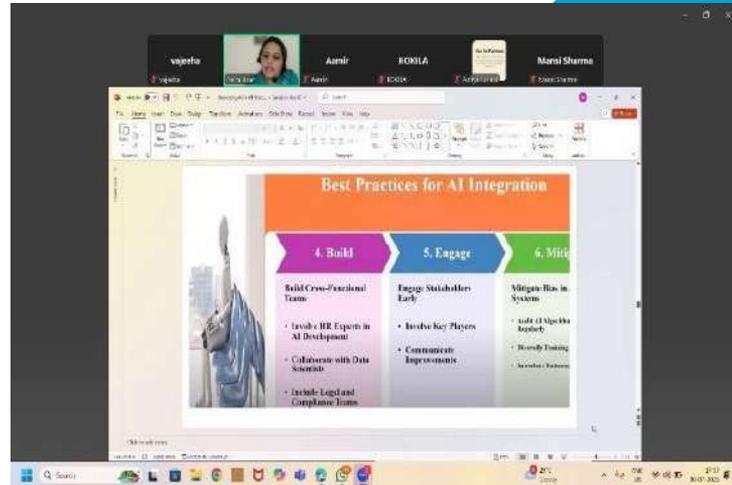

The series featured a comprehensive learning structure, including a 4-day masterclass, an AI-focused master session, career guidance workshops, hands-on practical activities, and access to a free eBook. Participants explored real-world applications of Python in a simple, intuitive, and highly practical manner, making complex concepts easy to understand.

Learners appreciated the engaging teaching approach, industry relevance, and step-by-step learning format, which helped them build confidence, clarity, and career direction in emerging fields like analytics, data science, and AI. Overall, the program proved to be a highly impactful and future-oriented initiative, empowering participants to explore technology-driven career opportunities with confidence.

AI in Human Resource Management – Professional Training

A one-day professional training program on Artificial Intelligence in Human Resource Management was conducted on April 26, 2025, at Lloyd Business School, with participation from 40 professionals representing HR, industry, and academia. The program explored the transformative role of AI in recruitment, talent acquisition, workforce analytics, employee engagement, and strategic HR planning. Through live demonstrations of AI-powered HR tools and case-based discussions, participants gained practical exposure to HR automation, predictive analytics, data-driven decision-making, and ethical AI practices. The training equipped attendees with future-ready skills and reinforced Lloyd Business School's focus on innovation, industry relevance, and skill-based learning.

Foundations in AI Skill Development Program

The Foundations in AI Skill Development Program, conducted from May 13–18, 2024, successfully introduced 42 faculty members and corporate professionals to the core concepts of analytics and artificial intelligence. Organized in an online mode, the program was facilitated by Dr. Mohanty, Prof. Mohit Agrawal, Prof. Neha Issar, and Dr. Neetu Kamra, bringing together strong academic and industry-oriented expertise.

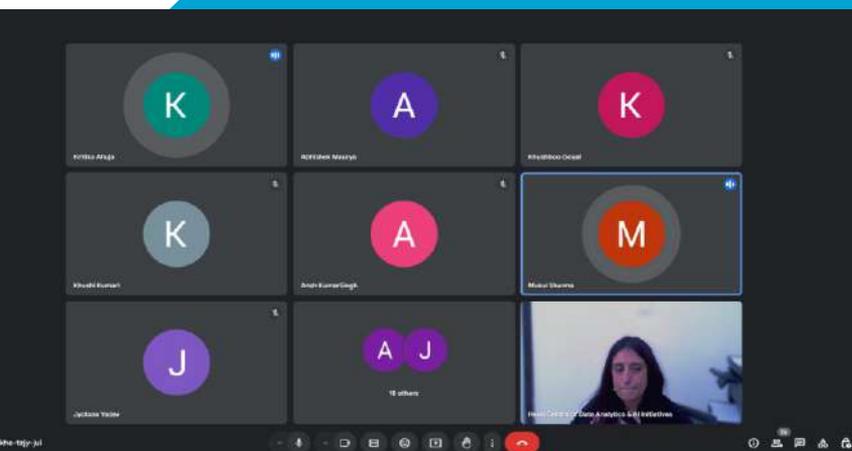

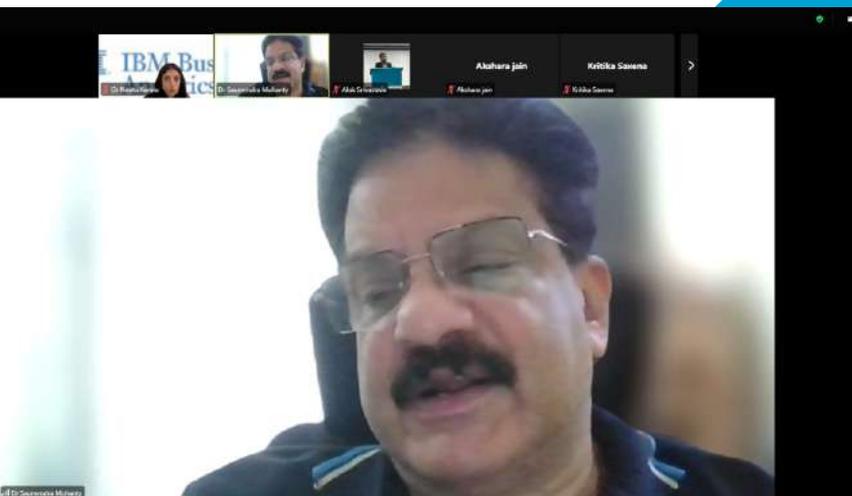

The training focused on building a strong conceptual foundation in AI and analytics, while also emphasizing practical applicability in professional environments.

Participants engaged in interactive sessions, hands-on exercises, and real-world case discussions, enabling them to understand how AI tools can be applied across teaching, research, and business functions.

The program encouraged cross-domain learning, collaboration, and knowledge sharing among academicians and industry professionals.

It also provided clarity on emerging AI trends, digital transformation, and future skill requirements in a data-driven world.

Overall, the initiative proved to be a valuable capacity-building program, strengthening participants' confidence and readiness to adopt AI-driven approaches in their respective domains.

Faculty Development Program on Analytics & AI

Maharaj Surajmal University successfully organized a five-day Faculty Development Program on Analytics & AI from May 26–30, 2025, with participation from 25 faculty members. The program focused on strengthening academic and research capabilities through in-depth exposure to predictive analytics, artificial intelligence, and machine learning, with emphasis on their practical integration into teaching, research, and industry-oriented problem-solving. Through expert-led sessions, live demonstrations, hands-on activities, and interactive discussions, participants explored AI-powered research tools, data analytics platforms, and innovative digital resources, fostering interdisciplinary collaboration and knowledge exchange. The FDP enhanced faculty confidence in adopting modern technologies, improved technology-enabled pedagogy, and reinforced the university's commitment to academic excellence, innovation, and digital advancement.

Advanced SQL Masterclass (Executive Education Program)

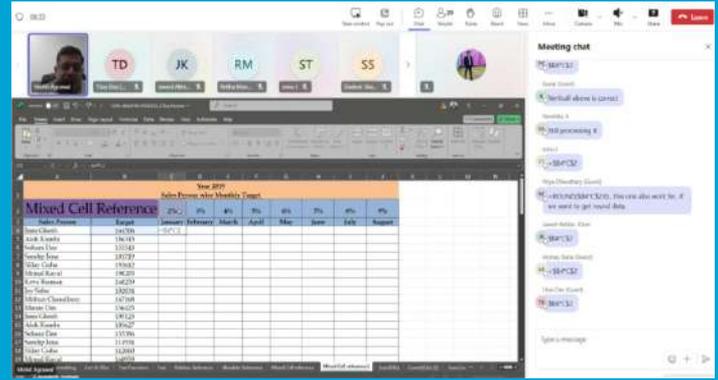

An online Advanced SQL Masterclass was successfully conducted from 7–24 June 2025, training over 30 participants from industry, corporate teams, faculty, and students under the expert guidance of Ms. Neha Issar. The program was designed to strengthen advanced SQL competencies and enable participants to work effectively with complex datasets in real-world business environments. The masterclass covered advanced SQL queries, complex joins, subqueries, data filtering and aggregation, query optimization, and performance tuning through live demonstrations, hands-on practice, and real-world analytics use cases. The highly interactive format enhanced participants' data analysis, query-writing, and problem-solving skills, while deepening their understanding of data-driven decision-making and business intelligence. The program was widely appreciated for its practical orientation, industry relevance, and real-time problem-solving approach, making it a highly impactful learning initiative.

Management Development Program on AI in Excel for V5 Global

A two-day Management Development Program (MDP) was successfully conducted on June 19–20, 2025 for V5 Global under the Executive Education Program, with the participation of 25 professionals. The training was led by Prof. Mohit Agrawal and focused on building advanced skills in AI-powered Excel to enhance business efficiency and decision-making.

The workshop emphasized automation of repetitive tasks, faster and smarter reporting, data visualization, financial and operational analysis, and data-driven strategic decision-making. Participants engaged in hands-on practice using real business datasets, enabling them to apply advanced Excel techniques to practical workplace scenarios.

The interactive sessions helped participants improve their speed, accuracy, analytical thinking, and confidence in handling complex data. The program was highly appreciated for its practical, industry-relevant, and workplace-ready approach, making it a valuable learning experience. Overall, the MDP marked a successful step toward digital upskilling, productivity enhancement, and stronger corporate collaboration, reinforcing Lloyd's commitment to executive education and industry focused training.

Corporate Analytics Training at Nepal Clearing House

A four-day professional training program was successfully conducted from 20–23 June 2025 at Nepal Clearing House, Kathmandu, for 15 industry professionals under the expert guidance of Dr. Mohanty. The program was designed to enhance participants' capabilities in banking analytics, automated reporting, data interpretation, and digital decision-making in a modern financial environment.

The training focused on building practical skills in financial data analysis, report automation, dashboard creation, process optimization, and technology-driven decision support. Participants engaged in hands-on exercises, real banking datasets, live demonstrations, and workplace-oriented case studies, ensuring direct application of learning to real operational challenges.

As a result, participants significantly strengthened their automation skills, reporting efficiency, analytical thinking, and confidence in using digital tools for banking operations. The program received highly positive feedback for its practical, industry-relevant, and workplace-focused approach, marking it as a valuable initiative in enhancing productivity, operational efficiency, and data-driven capabilities within the banking sector.

AI in Excel MDP for My FM Radio

Lloyd Business School successfully conducted an AI in Excel Management Development Program on 19th July 2025 in Pushkar for the Finance Department of My FM Radio (Dainik Bhaskar Group). The program was led by Prof. Mohit Agrawal and was designed to enhance participants' capabilities in AI-powered Excel applications, financial automation, and advanced data analysis.

The session focused on building practical skills in smart financial reporting, intelligent dashboards, automated workflows, predictive analysis, and data-driven decision-making. Participants gained hands-on experience with AI-enabled Excel tools that improve accuracy, efficiency, speed, and strategic financial planning in real-world business scenarios.

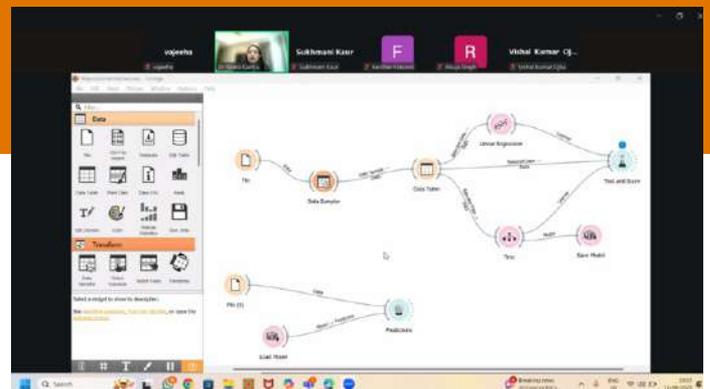

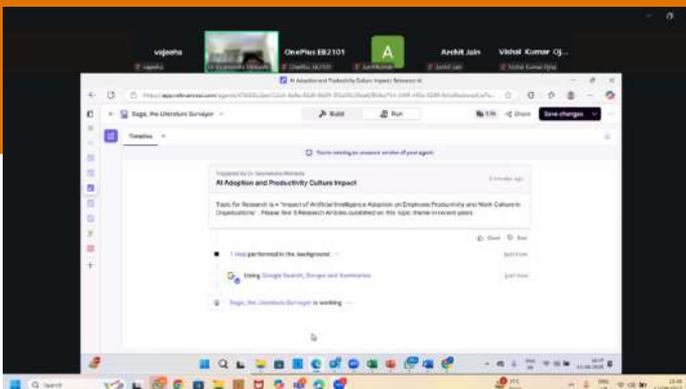

The training significantly strengthened participants' analytical thinking, reporting efficiency, and confidence in leveraging digital tools for finance functions. It also reinforced Lloyd Business School's strong industry collaboration and commitment to digital upskilling and executive education. Overall, the program proved to be a high-impact learning initiative, contributing to enhanced organizational performance and long-term professional capability building.

Workshops on Agentic AI Training Program

The Agentic AI Training Program was conducted from 11th to 13th September 2025 at Lloyd Business School, with 25 participants from diverse functional areas such as management, finance, HR, and operations. The program, led by Dr. Mohanty and Dr. Neetu Kamra, aimed to introduce participants to the concept of Agentic AI and its growing relevance in automating business processes and enhancing decision-making. The sessions covered key topics including AI-driven agents, workflow automation, and the development of AI applications for various organizational functions through a balanced mix of conceptual understanding and practical exposure.

The training emphasized experiential learning through live demonstrations, hands-on exercises, case discussions, and tool-based assignments. Participants actively engaged in building and testing AI workflows during the sessions, which helped them gain confidence in using AI-agent tools and understanding their real-world applications. By the end of the program, participants acquired practical skills to design and implement AI-based workflows, enabling them to apply Agentic AI effectively to improve operational efficiency and decision-making within their organizations.

Alumni Connect Session

On January 31, 2025, Lloyd Business School in Greater Noida hosted its Margdarshan Alumni Meet — a recurring event designed to bridge the gap between academic learning and industry practice. During the session, alumni Mr. Abhishek Tanwar, YouTube Growth Manager, and Saurav Singh, Category Manager Head Operations at Physics Wallah, shared their professional journeys and insights with PGDM students. The event provided valuable industry perspectives and career guidance, reinforcing the institute's commitment to nurturing a dynamic learning environment through meaningful Alumni engagement.

Alumni Talk Series: Margdarshan

Lloyd Business School, Greater Noida, organized an engaging online session under the Alumni Talk Series: Margdarshan on March 18, 2025, titled "Building a RAG-based LLM Assistant using Streamlit and Snowflake Cortex Search." The session was conducted for Business Analytics students and witnessed active participation from 33 attendees, with coordination led by Ms. Neha Issar.

The workshop was delivered by Mr. Rahul Boorji, Principal Consultant – Gen AI at Genpact and a distinguished alumnus of the PGDM 2019–2021 batch. The session offered hands-on exposure to advanced AI concepts, with a strong focus on Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) and its real-world applications. Through live demonstrations, technical walkthroughs, and interactive discussions, students gained practical insights into building enterprise-grade AI assistants. Participants also explored ethical AI practices, industry use cases, and emerging career opportunities in analytics and data science. The event strengthened the connection between academic learning and industry trends, reinforcing Lloyd Business School's commitment to experiential education, alumni mentorship, and future-ready skill development.
